

Stem cell morphology and seeding in suitable microenvironments as a principle for hemopoietic development